

MINUTES OF STAKEHOLDERS TOWNHALL MEETING ON YEAR 2021 BUDGET
ORGANISED BY MINISTRY OF FINANCE, BUDGET AND ECONOMIC PLANNING, LOKOJA, KOGI STATE, HELD ON 14TH, OCTOBER, 2020 AT UNDERGRADUATE THEATRE, FCE, OKENE, KOGI STATE.

1.0.0 PREAMBLE

1.0.1 Stakeholders Town-hall Meeting has become an integral part of the budgeting process, after the two previous ones in 2018 and 2019 respectively. The aim of the engagement is to have in-person conversation with the people, regarding their needs that they wanted prioritize in the State Development Plan/ annual Budget. Key among the achievements of the previous stakeholders Town hall Meeting include the preparation of Citizens Budget, publishing of the approved Budget on the State website, holding stakeholder's engagement outside government facility, decentralizing stakeholders to the Senatorial level etc.

2.0.0 MINUTES OF THE MEETING

2.0.1 The Meeting started at 11:00AM with the National anthem and Ebira Anthem. This was followed by opening prayers offered by Mrs. Salami O. Alice (CDO, ADAVI) and Hajia Zainab Obansa (ADAVI) respectively.

3.0.0 OPENING REMARKS

3.0.1 The Hon. Commissioner of Finance, Budget and Economic Planning, Mukadam Asiwaju Ashiru Idris, who welcomed participants to the meeting, underscored the importance of creating a platform like this, in which stakeholders would discuss and submit their needs for inclusion into the State Budget. He informed the meeting that, His Excellency, Alh. Yahaya Bello, strongly believed in participatory budgeting, which was why he gave a standing directive for this meeting to be made part of the annual budgeting process. According to the Commissioner, government found totally unacceptable the past practices in which budgets were prepared without inputs from the people. He, therefore, assured the people of Government unwavering commitment to discussing the budget with the people for the purpose of aligning the government priorities with the peoples' priorities.

3.0.2 The Commissioner said, the State revenue was significantly challenged over the effects of COVID-19 Pandemic, saying within the first quarter of the pandemic, the assumptions that informed the preparation of the 2020 Approved Budget could no longer endure, as the oil benchmark of $57 Dollars per barrel upon which the Budget was prepared oscillated between $17 and $30 Dollar per barrel. At the same time, he said, the exchange rate, projected at N305/$ rose to N360/$. All other assumptions showed very bad signals such as inflation rates, GDP growth rate, unemployment. Under that difficult situation of a heavily plummeted revenue, he said Government had no option but to revise the Budget from the originally approved N176 Billion to N102 Billion, after due consultations with critical stakeholders. He continued that, in revising the 2020 Approved Budget, Overhead cost was cut down, the earlier planned recruitment exercises had to be suspended, admitted only critical pro-poor capital projects while provision were made for the completion of ongoing projects and maintenance of existing ones. He also said that provision was made to grant tax reliefs to vulnerable businesses as well as increased allocation for the health sector, to cater for Personal Protective Equipment, Medical allowances and health insurance. Provision were also made to support rural agriculture, social safety net support, livelihood support, public workfares support, all of which were provided for under the COVID-19 CARES program which was expected to take-off soon and continued in 2021 and 2022 respectively.

3.0.3 He continued that, the 2020 Budget had been revised in line with the effect of COVID-19, and the World Bank report indicated that the State Budget was in line with best practice, which would attract to the State, a grant of $5,000,000 Dollars. On the credibility in tax administration and other key areas, a grant of $2.5Million Dollars was also awarded to the State by the World Bank while in May, 2019, the state was awarded as the best State in North Central in Accountability and Transparency.

3.0.4 He equally stated that the Stakeholders engagement is considered important by Government, which was why key representatives of MDAs were part of the State team, to address the concerns of stakeholders in the different sectors and to liaise with stakeholders to obtain their inputs. He urged all the participants to actively participate in the process in order to achieve the objectives of His Excellency's inclusive governance.

3.0.5 In conclusion, he enjoined the good people of Kogi State, both at home and in diaspora, to heartily congratulate His Excellency, Alh. Yahaya Bello, the Executive Governor of Kogi State, over the strong affirmation of his victory at the polls by the Supreme Court as the duly elected Governor of Kogi State.

3.0.6 Mr. E O Bayode, the SFTAS Coordinator (World Bank Assisted), spoke on the benefits of stakeholders' engagement on budget. He referred to Budget, as an estimation of revenue and expenses of government over a specified future period of time, usually one year, describing it as the most important public agency activities of government.

3.0.7 Mr. Bayode stated further that, Stakeholders engagement strengthened openness, transparency and accountability, thereby improving the credibility of government decisions. The engagement provided a wider opportunity to gather information and feedback to guide the decisions of government; He said, information gathered from stakeholders' engagement, would enable government to prove to the citizens that inputs that were harvested from the budgeting process were intended to meet the desires, needs and priorities of the people; He said Stakeholders' engagement ultimately leads to improved governance system and inclusion of people from all backgrounds. The more views gathered in the process of budget formulation, the more likely the final product of the budget would meet the most needs and address the most concerns possible, he said; Trust would be built between the people and Government through stakeholders' engagement. He said collecting ideas and inputs from stakeholders across all areas would engender peace and stability in governance, leading to less agitations from the citizenry and finally, stakeholders' involvement in the budget process engenders ownership of the budget.

3.0.8 In conclusion, Mr. Bayode commended the State Governor, for the laudable initiative which, if sustained, had the ingredients of building trust and partnership with the people for the accelerated growth and sustainable development of the State.
